Prospecting.

Mr. J. J. Hamilton and wife drove over to Wilmore, on Monday, where he lived in childhood, and, it being court day, was called on him for a speech, which he made, with his usual force, speaking of his service for the democratic party. ## A Model Young Man.

The Record takes great pleasure in calling attention of its readers to the candidacy of Hon. J. Morgan Chinn, of Mercer, who is an aspirant for the democratic nomination for the office of Secretary of State. Mr. Chinn is a son of Hon. Jack Chinn, and is well known all over the state. Mr. Chinn is a moral man in every sense of the word, having no bad habits whatever. He never tasted liquor played cards or indulged in any of the practices so common among young men, and is a man of exceptionally fine business qualifications. He has been connected with the government at Frankfort for a number of years, and many compliments have been passed upon his splendid work. The time has come when the people demand clean men for officeholders, and in Mr. Chinn they have an ideal, in every sense of the word.

Dripping Springs.

The attendance at Dripping Spring is larger this season than it has been for many years, the people having found that for genuine rest and recuperation, this is the place to go. The waters are beyond question the best to be found anywhere, as they bring health and strength to people who are run down from overwork or illness and add new life to all who drink them. The Dripping Springs table has a wide reputation, and the people well know that everything in reason is served in the best possible manner and in abundance. The rooms have been thoroughly overhauled and are neat and attractive. The springs are easily accessible, the drive being one of the prettiest in Central Kentucky. The rates are reasonable, and you are given accommodation to be found at a first class hotel. Garrard county people are very proud of this resort, both for its health-giving qualities and the splendid management. You could not do a wiser thing than spend a week there, as you will return home recuperated in good health and ready for business. Now that business is dull, drive over and try it.

Obituary.

On Wednesday, 25, about noon, Mrs. Sarah A. White, wife of F. J. White, died in the 75th year of her age. At four o'clock P. M. on the 26, appropriate funeral services were conducted, by Rev. C. S. Ellis, and a large concourse of friends and relatives saw the mortal part of a beloved woman laid to rest in Lancaster Cemetery.

Mr. J. S. Armstrong, of Dallas Texas, the only survivor of five children, and her husband were here with her, for some time previous to her death, and did all in their power to take away the bitterness from the cup of anguish, which was not so marked with her as with those who approach death without preparing for the future State. Her suffering was only physical, for her consistent Christian life was surely a solace and comfort to her and served as a light to guide her spirit across the dark valley of death and anchor it safely in the harbor of eternal glory. Her many relatives and friends find comfort in the fact that her life was pure and without guile, knowing that only such a life can prepare a soul for admission into that Kingdom where only those that are spiritually minded can be happy and enjoy the bliss that abounds.

Sincere condolence is expressed by the entire community, and especially by this office, for her husband, who is growing old and who will sadly miss the companionship of his blessed wife. May he look to the Giver of every good and perfect gift for a happy reunion, safe from sin and the pangs that follow it.

CALL

FOR

Congressional Primary

1. A primary election is hereby called for Saturday, the first day of September, 1906, in all the voting precincts in the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky, at the regular voting places, between the hours of 6 o'clock a.m. and four o'clock p.m. for the purpose of selecting a Democratic candidate for Representative in Congress in said District.

2. All Democrats who are residents of said District, and who are legal voters on November 6, 1906, will be permitted to vote in their respective precincts, and are invited and requested to do so.

3. Every candidate who desires to have his name printed on the ballot to be used in said primary must deposit with the Chairman of the Committee, on or before 12 o'clock—midnight—if ten days before the date for holding said primary, the sum of seven hundred dollars, to be used in defraying the expenses of holding said primary election, and at the same time of making said deposit each candidate must give written notice to said Chairman that he desires to be a candidate at said election, and notice to the Chairman shall be notice to the Committee.

4. In all those counties having cities in which the law requires the registration of voters, the Democratic Committee of such counties, or the Chairman thereof, is authorized to cause the names of Democrats registered at the last general registration, to be copied into separate books, as is required by law.

5. Said election shall be held, in all respects, as is required by law for holding regular primary elections, and a uniform ballot shall be used in every precinct; and the Chairman of this Committee is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be printed, bound and distributed to the various Chairmen of the County Committees the ballots for each county. He is further directed to purchase and distribute to the Chairman of the County Committee all the necessary paraphernalia for holding said primary election.

6. The Democratic County Committee of each county shall appoint the officers in each precinct to hold the election, and they are to be selected from lists furnished by the candidates at least ten days before said election; and to be as nearly equally divided as possible as to Judges, Clerks and Sheriff, among the various candidates. The officers of said primary election will, when the polls are closed, proceed at once to count the votes cast for each person for said office, and after counting the votes, they will return to the boxes, sealing up the boxes and the Sheriffs of the election precincts, will, by next Monday morning, carry and deposit the boxes with the Chairman of the County Committee, at the court house in the respective counties. The officers of the election at each precinct will make a written statement of the number of votes cast for each person voted for, for the said office, and will place said statement in an envelope and deposit it in the respective ballot boxes.

7. The precinct ballot boxes and all returns are to be made to the Chairman of the County Committee, and if he is not in the county, to the Secretary of the County Committee, at the court house in the time required by law, to wit: within two days after said election.

8. And on next day after said returns have been made, the County Committee shall meet and canvass the returns, and certify the same to the Chairman of the District Committee of the Eighth Congressional District, which District Committee shall, on Wednesday, the fifth day of September, 1906, at 10 o'clock a.m. in the city of Nicholasville, Jessamine County, Kentucky, meet and canvass the returns, declare the result and issue a certificate of nomination to the successful candidate.

9. The Secretary of this Committee is directed to give public notice of this election, as is required by law, and without delay.

10. In the event there is a surplus remaining, after defraying the expenses of said primary, it shall be returned to those by whom it was paid in, in the same proportion in which it was paid by them; and if there should be a deficit, then the candidates shall be assessed to supply such deficit. Provided, however, if no more than one candidate shall have complied with the conditions herein imposed, by Aug 19, 1906, then the Chairman of the District is directed to reconvene the Committee, as soon thereafter as practicable at Nicholasville, Ky., and to declare such candidate the regular nominee of the Democratic party for said office, and to issue to him a certificate of nomination, and the primary election herein ordered will not be held.

11. The order on the ballot in which the names of the candidates who may enter this primary shall be printed, shall be determined by lot.

FARM AND GARDEN

A USEFUL POTATO SORTER

Device Easily Made Which Will Make Quick Work of Handling the Tubers.

For sorting potatoes quickly the device here illustrated will be found admirable. It consists of a slatted chute about six feet in length provided with legs at one end. The slats should be of inch stuff fastened as shown and about three-quarters of an inch apart, slightly farther apart at the bottom than at the top. This will prevent the potatoes from becoming wedged in the slots as they roll down. The width should be about 20 inches and the sideboards eight inches in height. The potatoes may then be removed from the wagon directly into the chute down which they will roll, the smaller ones falling through the slots. If desired, suggests the Prairie Farmer, two short legs may be fastened to the lower end of the chute so that a basket may be used in catching the potatoes as they fall.

THE POTATO SORTER.

A BUTCHERING TRESTLE.

Useful Contrivance Which Will Facilitate the Handling of the Hogs.

Here is a description and sketch of a butchering trestle used by a correspondent of the Farm Journal: A strong, low table with crosspieces nailed securely to the two by four scantlings that form the braces and legs. Two stout men can mount this table to draw the hog from the scalding barrel that leans at an easy angle in the curve A and B—a 45° curve. If a derrick is used to raise and lower the hog, so much the better. The scraping and rinsing of the hog may be done on this trestle prior to hoisting for disemboweling.

FARM JOTTINGS.

The farmer must uplift himself—no one else can or will do the job.

Our national surplus of wheat, including flour at its equivalent in wheat, may be expected to approach 200,000,000 bushels this winter.

An American wheat expert hazards the prediction that western Canada within ten years will be the principal source of European wheat supplies.

It is now definitely settled that the recent apple crop is just about half as large as the previous year's crop. The final estimate for 1905 is 23,500,000 barrels. Demand is good; prices high and firm.

For the protection of a large area from the codling moth pest, the Cape government has prohibited the import of fresh apple, pear or quince fruit into certain large South African districts.

Raising or Buying Small Fruit.

We have always urged farmers to raise enough small fruit for their family use. The proportion of farmers that raise enough fruit for their families is increasing from year to year, but yet there are many farmers that do not raise any kind of small fruit.

Their stock argument is that it is cheaper to buy the fruit than to raise it. That may be so in some cases, but even if it were so in all cases, the fact remains that most farmers do not buy fruit for their families; and if they do not raise it, their families do not get it. Every man can afford to raise all the fruit his family can use in a year, and if his fruit-raising operations are properly conducted, they will require but little time throughout the year.

The Pitch of Roof.

The rake or pitch of roofs has much to do in giving character and finish to a building. For ordinary roofs, whether shingles or slate are used, the rise should be one-third the width of the building. In houses where head room is wanted in the attic the rise should be one-half the width of the building.

Winter Wheat Area.

The newly seeded area of winter wheat is estimated at 31,341,000 acres, an increase of 0.6 per cent over the area sown in the fall of 1904. The condition of winter wheat was recently 94.1, as compared with 82.9 in 1904, 86.6 in 1903, and a ten-year average of 91.5.

Demand for Ash and Hickory.

Manufacturers of vehicles and implements are finding that the supply of woods used in their industries is becoming more and more difficult to obtain.

It Came Natural.

Simple—Young De Bullion is a fine motorist, isn't he?

The Cynic—So he ought to be. It's hereditary. His father drove a steam-roller for some years before he made his money.

Tough.

"Did that porous plaster help your stomach any?"

"Indade, it did not, docthor, an' 'twas th' toughest ting Ol' iver downed."

Houston Post.

Would Disperse Them.

"But I feel timid about singing before so many people."

"Well, if you say you'll sing I'll fix that all right."

"How?"

"I will announce that you are going to sing."—Houston Post.

Pardonable.

Mrs. Flimflam—Why don't you wear a glass eye, Mrs. Whimwam?

Mrs. Whimwam—Shouldn't think of it, my dear; it's a deception.

Mrs. Flimflam—Oh, well, even if it is, it's a deception that no one can see

FOR WOODLOT OWNERS.

Good Things to Avoid in Using the Home Supply of Wood on the Farm.

There is a right way to do everything, and the care of the woodlot is not an exception to the rule, says a bulletin of the Forest Service of the United States agricultural department. The right way, moreover, is often quite simple, the good results which follow being out of all proportion to the time or labor expended. Too many woodlots are simply neglected, and by far the greater number of them are misused for want of foresight or a true appreciation of their value.

The first principles of right woodlot forestry may be summarized in a brief list of Don'ts, by which every woodlot owner may profit with very little trouble.

Don't dispose of your woodlot. You need it for your own use. It can be made to give you fuel, posts, poles, fence rails, even such timber, boards and shingles as will keep the farmstead and barns in repair.

Don't turn your woodlot into a pasture. Tree seedlings are quickly bruised and crushed by the trampling of live stock. Hungry cattle browse upon them.

Don't thin your woodlot too heavily. If you do, large openings are made through which the sunlight streams in, drying the soil and encouraging the growth of grass, which should never be suffered to replace the spongy humus that forms the natural top layer of soil in a healthy forest.

Don't burn over the woodlot. It has been pointed out that the woodlot is not fit for pasture purposes, but even if it were, the burning over of the soil would still do irreparable damage to young growth, consume the litter which ought to rot into humus, and destroy the very conditions which nature seeks to establish and preserve.

Don't select only the best trees in a woodlot which needs weeding. Nearly every woodlot is composed of a mixed stand in which dead and unsound trees are intermingled. If you select and remove only the choicer living trees, the stand will grow poorer instead of better, and in time will become almost worthless. An improvement cutting which, even at a little cost, removes the weed trees and those which are dead, crooked or otherwise of little worth, will give the remaining stand a clear start.

Don't forget reproduction. In thinning your woodlot, have an eye to the young growth. Spare it as much as you can in felling and hauling the logs. Give the seedlings the chance, and they will seize it and grow into saplings and poles.

Don't let the carelessness of other persons do the damage to your woodlot by fire which you refrain from doing yourself. A fire in a neighboring field may creep into your woodlot and burn over it, scorching the trunks of the trees or even setting the crowns ablaze. It is worth while, in the dangerous season, to see that the borders of the woodlot are clear of inflammable material. Especially clear away the leaves so as to form a miniature fire lane about the forest. Forbid the careless use of matches and the building of camp fires, and see that your directions are obeyed.

Don't be in too great a hurry to realize on your woodlot investment. Be satisfied with a permanent revenue, which is the interest of your forest capital. You may materially increase this interest by managing the woodlot itself so that the thinning always bears a wise proportion to the yield.

GATE PROP.

Simple Device for Attaching to Farm Gate Which Will Keep It Open.

I am going to give others the benefit of a patent gate prop my father invented several years ago, writes a man from the Farmers' Review. It is a great deal of trouble to hold a gate open and drive stock through it also. Now, when you swing the gate open, have a stick of wood, say a broom handle two feet long, fastened to the third slat of the gate with leather so it can be turned either way. Drive a nail at B, and when gate is closed put prop on A. When you open it drop A and swing it and it will stay where it stops.

THE GATE PROP.

A BIRD OUTFITTER'S.

"A patent perch," said the bird outfitter. "Two dollars. It looks like a genuine twig, and when a bird lights on it, it sways like a genuine twig.

"This is a bird's shower bath. Many birds like a shower, as you know. A fine spray ascends from this tube to a height of eight inches, falling back into this porcelain tub. Standing in the tub, the bird gets as fine a shower as ever was given by fountain or waterfall.

"These are patent nests. They look like the genuine article. They are very luxurious and springy. They are lined with floss silk.

"And here is our grocery, or delicacies department. Here are bird delicacies of every description. Worms, ants, eggs, cuttlefish, breakfast foods, salads, greens—and so on down the list of bird dainties.

"This is our patent medicine department. Here we sell 'plumage revivers,' 'voice clearers,' 'throat strengtheners,' 'bird tonics,' 'bill hardeners.'

Decrease of Illiteracy.

One hundred and six persons in each thousand of the population of the country over ten years old cannot write. The latest bulletin of the census bureau gives forty-six illiterates in a thousand of the native whites and a hundred and twenty-eight in a thousand of foreign-born.

It is decreasing steadily, especially among the native-born, for whom the statistics for 1890 show sixty-two illiterate in a thousand. Among children illiteracy is greater in the country than in the cities, owing to lack of school facilities in thinly populated regions. In cities of more than twenty-five thousand there are only ten illiterate children per thousand.

Encouraging Sign.

Patience—I see by the paper that during the year 1904 Siam exported more than $12,000,000 worth of rice.

Patrice—That doesn't look very much as if marriage was going to be a failure.—Yonkers Statesman.

Accounted For.

Bacon—How glad we always look.

Doesn't he ever try to look on the bright side of things?

Egbert—Oh, yes, he tries to; but you see, he's fearfully cross-eyed.—Yonkers Statesman.

And He Knew.

"Pop!"

"Yes, my son."

"What is a monologue artist?"

"A monologue artist, my boy, on the stage is generally a man; in real life it is a woman."—Yonkers Statesman.

Did Not Know Him.

Bill—He asked me to lend him $5.

Jill—Yes; he's a chronic borrower.

"But I've only known him three days!"

"That's the reason he asked you."—Yonkers Statesman.
